THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

ROBERT FROST

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Never in the history of formal education has the educational system been so besieged from all quarters with demands for meaning, relevance, practicality, substance, compassion, justice and student recognition. Even our society has had to frantically defend itself and justify its very existence. Traditional standards of living have been put to the test and discarded or reaffirmed. Neither college administrators and faculty nor students have had the luxury of being overlooked. Great credit is due to you who have demonstrated a steadfastness of purpose and unwaveringly pursued the goals you have established.

Your two years of college have been the most volatile in American educational history. The enormous turmoil created by student dissent, faculty unrest and collegiate disorientation has forced decisions upon you much earlier than preceding generations. Your scope of knowledge vastly exceeds that of previous graduates due to improvements in educational methods and advances in modern technology. As part of this you are charged with greater responsibilities than your predecessors. The world before you promises new horizons for achievement and you are better equipped to seek those horizons.

It is the wish of your friends here at Fisher that you have increasing understanding, discernment and wisdom to help you realize a productive, rewarding and happy life.

Scott A. Fisher, President

GINGER ACHER

Love, all alike, no season knows nor clime, nor hours, days, months, which are the rags of time.

ANN AGARDI

The glory of life is to love, not to be loved, to give, not to get; to serve, not to be served.

BEVERLY ADAMS

Still there are some who ask why, who want to know, who dare to try.

NANETTE E. BAINES

To thine own self be true.

ANDREA E. ALLSTON

I enjoy today by using yesterday's tears of sorrow to flavor my hopes of joy tomorrow.

JOAN BARISH

Love is the opening to all happiness.

LINDA BARRY

Love is more a single movement than a whole piece. It should compliment our lives not devour us.

BRENDA BARON

And in the end, the love you take, is equal to the love, you make.

CAROL BEHRLE

Before you flare up at anyone's faults, take time to count ten—ten of your own.

SHARYN BENNETT

Some men see things as they are and say why? I dream things and say why not?

KATHY BOHN

My mind's distracted and confused, my thoughts are many miles away, they lie with you while your asleep and kiss you when you start your day.

NANCY BENSON

It takes both rain and sunshine to make a rainbow.

Your not as old as you are but as young as you feel.

ALMA MATER HYMN

Hail to you, our Alma Mater
  Let our voices join in praise
To the school whose inspiration
  Will direct us all our days.
As we stand before Life's portal.
  You have given us a key
To unlock the great world before us;
  And to you we'll loyal be.

When the moment comes from parting
  And we bid these halls good-bye
We will take with us forever
  Thoughts of you that never die.
Alma Mater, as we leave you
  We hold bright in memory
Giving fame to the name of Fisher in our hearts you'll always be.
